Dear Sorter,

My family and I want to personally invite you to the 8th Annual Big Daddy Summer Spectacular Ranch Sorting and Penning. We are pulling-out all the stops to make this year's event both FUN and AFFORDABLE for all.

With the current cost of fuel, we realize that your recreation budget is probably a little tight. Therefore, we want to make this event as affordable as possible. We are cutting entry fees to a bare minimum. In years past, our lowest entry fee was $35. This year, that will be the highest!

If you are looking for some exciting competition and affordable fun, make plans to attend the Big Daddy Summer Spectacular! All divisions, including the penning classes, will be point-earning opportunities. Any points you earn will be added to your Sort for the Saddle total in your home state! So, don't miss-out on this guaranteed good time! Bring a camper or pitch a tent; we'll put on the coffee and keep the fire burning!

Sincerely,

Dave Wolfe

From the President

Dave Wolfe
RSNC President

Happy Independence Day! It is hard to believe July 4th is already here. However, for many parts of the country, the 100+ degree temperatures are proof positive. Fortunately, for us in Colorado, we don't see the mercury climb that high very often. If we do, we just head to the mountains; aren't we lucky?!!

Speaking of which, if you are looking for a great summer vacation, I want to invite you to spend a couple weeks with us in Wyoming and Colorado. There are some great Ranch Sorting events coming up. It will all start on July 11th and 12th in Afton, Wyoming, which is just outside Jackson Hole. This RSNC event is hosted by Neil Chadwick and it has $5,000 added prize money!!!

After Afton, you can mosey on down to Estes Park, Colorado, and participate in a co-sanctioned RSNC/RMTPA Sorting & Penning on July 19th & 20th. We are organizing a trail ride into the beautiful Rocky Mountain National Forest on the Monday and Tuesday after that. Wednesday, you can load-up and head north for the Big Daddy Summer Spectacular in Cheyenne, Wyoming, on July 24th -27th. Is that a vacation or WHAT?!!

During Cheyenne, some of the traveling competitors will be at another event; so, that leaves the door wide open for the rest of us to enjoy Cheyenne with low entry fees and some great opportunities to win! This year, the highest entry fee at Cheyenne is $35! Be sure to take advantage of this national event at an affordable price. Call now for rooms, camping facilities, or just come on out and pitch a tent. Remember... it's cowboy country!

I would like to welcome two new sponsors to RSNC. They are DreamHorse.com and Cowboy Magic. We appreciate their support and look forward to their involvement in the association. Look for their representatives and products at RSNC shows.

On another note, I would like to make a few comments about the association itself. Just over a year ago, RSNC totally separated from NTPC who was originally a sister organization. I sold my interest in NTPC and separated all ties so I could form a stand alone association that would focus primarily on the sport of Ranch Sorting. Many of us feel this sport deserves top billing within the industry, and we wanted to reach out to people who, for one reason or another, were more attracted to ranch sorting than to team penning. RSNC continues to support the game of team penning, but not as our primary focus and not in conjunction with NTPC.

Thanks to many of you, RSNC has tripled in sanctioned events and our membership has grown tremendously. When we broke from NTPC, we started fresh with a focus on two things... the Beginner and Novice riders and a dedication to affordable entry fees. So, we started by separating what was originally the #1 rated category into three ratings: Beginner (#1), Rookie (#2), and Novice (#3). All other ratings went up by 2. This opened the door so new contestants could compete against riders with similar experience, and they could enjoy success at this level.

We have dropped entry fees drastically so families can afford to participate together. By doing this, we have seen a huge growth in our number of contestants who are new to the sport. The tremendous influx of new members has provided the stability needed to make the association strong. With this solid base, we can now expand and provide great opportunities for contestants at all levels. As new contestants become more experienced and move up the ranks, and others see the opportunities, the amateur and open divisions will grow as well. We are already the largest national association within our industry.

I appreciate all the support that the association has been given by producers, members, and sponsors. As with anything new, we continue to experience hurdles that can and will be addressed and overcome. I encourage anyone with comments and suggestions to call the office. I want to personally listen to what you have to say and answer any questions.

Finally, I want to invite everyone to our second National Finals in Ponca City, Oklahoma. The schedule is set with a $50 cap on entry fees and a line-up of prizes totaling over $50,000! Anyone can ride at the Finals; there are prizes for everyone! So, come be a part of the fun and invite a friend to experience this exciting association. RSNC is on the rise!

Get out there and sort!

RSNC MEMBERS FORUM

Why are entry fees not the same at every show? I am sometimes surprised at the difference; can you please explain why the association doesn't have set fees?

We have learned as a sanctioning body that the more rules and restrictions you require a producer to follow, the less producers that you are likely to have. Therefore, we have a few required rules such as every show offering at least three sanctioned divisions, rules of the game, and rules governing contestants' ratings that must be followed. This is to ensure that everyone is given an even playing field and there is some consistency on how the game is played. However, we can not dictate to the producer what he or she charges in entry fees. First, each producer has different overhead expenses. Some own their own cattle and keep them right there on the place. With trucking costs going to $4 a mile, producers that must bring-in cattle have a huge expense. In Oklahoma, cattle are $20 a head, back east they are $45 a head. Others have to rent arenas and pay for motels for out of town labor, etc. So, as you can see, there is no way we can dictate a set entry fee for all producers. We do, however, stress that we want this to remain a family sport and entry fees need to be affordable. Most producers agree and are trying to keep the entry fees as low as possible.

I was recently moved from a rookie to a novice because I had won $1000. A lot of this money was earned when I was a beginner and competing in really big classes; therefore, I only spent one show as a rookie because I was so close to the $1000 mark when I graduated from the Beginner Division. Why doesn't the $1000 total start from the time you become a rookie? Doesn't the current rule cause those contestants winning money in bigger classes to graduate more quickly than those competing in smaller classes where the payback is less?

I like your question and I will try to answer it as straight-forward as possible. First, several years back, I created a rookie category within the #1 division of the team penning industry. That was because there was no room for new contestants since many of the #1's had been penning for many years and had won thousands of dollars. We set the cut off at $2500. That made a big difference and it brought new members to the association. After a couple of years, we decided that there still wasn't a big enough opening for new contestants; so, we dropped the cut off to $1500. This was for penning and sorting combined. Once again, this was a positive change for the new contestant and it brought in many new members. With RSNC, we wanted to make a big statement that brand-new contestants, both young and old, are welcome and can compete against other new contestants. Therefore, we broke the #1 rating into 3 levels and moved everyone else up by 2 or more ratings. The only way to make this system work is to put a low dollar amount on the advancement; so, once you start winning, you also start moving up the ladder. We didn't put a dollar amount on the #1 beginner because anyone could get lucky once or twice and win a big class or two and be moved. Therefore, we decided if you won 3 checks in the average, you were probably starting to do things right. For the sake of all who were still learning the game, we would continue to give them hope by moving riders like you up to a rookie. If you win $1000, whether it is at one or two big shows or at ten little shows, you have probably beat approximately the same number of teams. Therefore, we move you up and leave the door open for those that are just coming in or who may have been just missing the money. Remember, as a #3 you are still an old #1 and are in the first level of the novice category (#3 and #4 = Novice).

RANCH SORTING NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS
RSNC #1 Equine Family FOCUS

RSNC WELCOMES UTAH

BY DAVE WOLFE, RSNC PRESIDENT

Lou Lucido has long been a fan of the sport of Ranch Sorting. At his ranch in Morgan, Utah, Lucido has now hosted five annual ranch sorting events. This year, Lou decided to sanction his show and wanted to support the only national association dedicated to Ranch Sorting: RSNC. So, I traveled to Utah to meet Lou and be a part of his event.

WOW! What a beautiful place! The ranch is located at the base of a mountain in the middle of the Rockies; it is true to life cowboy country.

On Friday evening of this 100% PAYBACK event, Lou and his family graciously hosted a cookout for all the contestants and their families. Talk about hospitality! This was just after they had a locals-only sorting with all new contestants trying the sport as an event rather than a job. There was a crew of cowboys and their families along with Lou's ranch foreman that had just moved 100 pair up on the mountain for summer grazing. These folks had a blast and definitely knew how to read cattle.

On Saturday, RSNC

supporters both old and new showed up for a weekend of family style ranch sorting. When it was all wrapped up, nearly 200 teams participated. RSNC was able to provide over $600 worth of COWBOY MAGIC product to the winners thanks to the great support of our newest sponsor COWBOY MAGIC. It was quite a contest! I was honored to have been a part of this wonderful event and meet these gracious people; RSNC appreciates their support!

SORTING ON THE WESTERN SLOPE

BY PAM JOHNSON, RSNC PRODUCER

Spring came to the Western Slope just in time for our event on Sunday, May 18th, as we had our first-ever RSNC clinic and sort in Carbondale. We had a fabulous turnout, and everyone had a blast! Most of our participants were 1st time sorters and now can't wait until they can play again! We had a very diverse group including ropers, barrel racers, reiners, and trail riders; we also had a variety of horses from Quarter Horses to Foxtrotters to Arabians! Cindy Johnson came up from Boulder with her son, Ryder, and they both enjoyed "playing cowboy" for the weekend.

Personally, I am very excited about future RSNC Ranch Sorting events; the sport really does adapt to all levels of riders and promotes a lot of enthusiasm and camaraderie! All of the folks from RSNC were extremely helpful. Dave and his son's really showed us how to play!

ANAHEIM HILLS CATTLE CLUB: SERIOUS ABOUT SORTING

Ranch sorting is the fastest growing equine activity as stated by the American Quarter Horse Association; SERIOUSLY involved in ranch sorting is the Anaheim Hills Cattle Club, a 15 acre multi-faceted equine facility nestled in the beautiful community of Anaheim Hills, California. Holding the reins at this equine facility is Andy Edwards and Adrianna Tanzer who are long-time competitors in both cutting and ranch sorting. The Cattle Club has been selected to be the first facility in California to host RSNC sanctioned sortings.

Andy and Adrianna have brought what was once a believe that ranch sorting is "the original family sport" and have created a place where families can come and enjoy sorting together in a family-friendly atmosphere.

The Cattle Club has made a serious commitment and effort to produce as professional a regional cattle sorting as possible. Their facility is equipped with a 24,000 square foot lighted and covered arena for warm-up and 2 state-of-the-art Priefert 70' round pens, stadium lighting, and a FarmTek digital wireless scoreboard. They also provide a full-service snack bar. There is no doubt about their commitment to cattle activities whether it is their weekly ranch sorting or casual weekly gathering of friends for ranch sorting to a popular and competitive cattle sorting event with a weekly participation of 30-40 teams. They are producing a monthly RSNC sorting which gives sorters in California a place to compete and earn national points and prizes. The Cattle Club is fortunate to always have fresh cattle provided by long-time stock contractor, Mr. Jeremy Gorham of the Euclid Stockyards. Like RSNC, Andy and Adrianna their weekly open cutting.

The Anaheim Hills Cattle Club is fortunate to have the support of long-time friend Jim Cummings, president and owner of the Cowboy Magic Corporation. Cowboy Magic is the Cattle Club's #1 sponsor. Jim Cummings is an avid horseman himself and generously provides added money and Cowboy Magic products for all events. Most recently, Jim and his horse, Luke, have developed an interest in ranch sorting and

ANAHEIM CATTLE CLUB

The riders at the Anaheim Hills Saddle Club, now being referred to as "the Cattle Club", are ready for more! The club's first RSNC sorting took place on May 31st with Adrianna Tanzer, trainer, and Andy Edwards, owner, producing the show. Jim Cummings, owner of the Cowboy Magic Corporation, was also there with lots of Cowboy Magic products and ADDED MONEY for this kick-off event.

When asked how the first show went, Tanzer admitted that there were a "few issues". "We ran the class order according to the way the divisions are listed in the producer's packet. This was a mistake because the cattle were really fresh for the beginners."

Although this was the club's first RSNC event, these riders are not new to sorting. Tanzer explains that in the past, the club has hosted arena sorting. However, she believes that ranch sorting will be much more popular, and they are "very excited" about the future.

The Anaheim Hills Saddle Club has an RSNC sort on the calendar the

WINNERS ABOUND AT PLAY PEN'S MAY SHOW

BY MARISA DYE, RSNC PRODUCER

The Memorial Day weekend show at the Play Pen Arena in Ponca City, Oklahoma lasted 3 days and included over 500 teams.

Saturday started out with the Number 14 Ranch Hand Handicap class. It was won by Rob Cosby and Mike Keith with 19 cattle sorted in 116.49 seconds.

Next was the Number 11 Ranch Hand Handicap. Bill Entz and Shawn Wyatt took the top spot with 15 cattle sorted in 112.70.

Several very young riders turned out for the Youth class, delighting the crowd in attendance. The all-youth team of Michael Hermes and Danyll Gemmill placed first with 6 cattle in 94.78 seconds.

The Number 6 class had over fifty teams on Saturday, with Gary Parli and Tom Scott picking up the win with a combined time of 19 cattle in 161.51 seconds. The fast go time was 10 cattle in 48.21 seconds by Rick Avara and Lance Weant. After that, Tom Moses and Troy Christian won the Number 4 with 9 cattle in 101.72 seconds.

Saturday evening, Hoss Frank and Tom Bogner won the Number 10 handicap class with 18 cattle sorted in 109.70.

Rounding out the action Saturday was the Number 13 class, with Shelly Fitzgerald and Gene Carson winning the check with 15 cattle in 84.98 seconds.

Sunday's action began with the All Levels Handicap. Collin James and Van Gemmill won the class with 20 cattle in 87.870 seconds.

Over 70 teams turned out for the Beginner Ranch Hand Handicap. Janet Hulsey won the class, with Bill Entz in the gate. The team had a combined time of 164.93 on 21 cattle. Beginner fast go was won by Christy Bowen and Hoss Frank.

Next, Bill Entz and Van Gemmill sorted 19 cattle in 119.05 seconds to win the Number 10 Masters Handicap.

The large Rookie Ranch Hand class followed the beginner class. Craig Jensen and Van Gemmill battled their way to the top spot with 26 cattle in 163.54 seconds. Sylvia Smith won the Rookie fast go with partner Van Gemmill. She sorted 10 cattle in 51.45 seconds.

Shelly Fitzgerald and Gene Carson took the top spot in the Number 13.

Tom Bogner and Hoss Frank won the Number 10.

Gary Parli and Tom Scott display the plaques they won in the Number 6 class.

The Play Pen's next show will be June 20-22. A big July 4th weekend show will follow the June show. Check www.play-penarena.com for flyers and information.

Bill Entz worked the gate for Janet Hulsey, and their efforts were rewarded with a win in the Beginner class.

Collin James and Van Gemmill paired up to win the All Levels Handicap.

Michael Hermes and Danyll Gemmill won first in the Youth class.

Craig Jensen won the Rookie Ranch Hand with Van Gemmill in the gate.

Bill Entz and Van Gemmill won the Number 10 Masters class.

THE MCFARLANDS ARE VEGAS BOUND!

Congratulations to Danny and Debbie McFarland of the Linked D Ranch in Palm City, Florida! The McFarlands' RSNC sortings have produced 1000+ teams which has earned these producers a trip to Las Vegas, Nevada. This trip includes airfare, hotel accommodations, and tickets to the 2008 NFR!

Danny and Debbie have been avid supporters of the sport of Ranch Sorting as well as the RSNC. The association is honored to award this trip to these two great producers who also happen to be wonderful people. Thank you, Danny and Debbie, for all you have done to grow the sport of Ranch Sorting and support the RSNC.

SWEATING IN SUNNY SOUTH FLORIDA

BY DEBBIE MCFARLAND, RSNc PRODUCER

As I think back on this past Ranch Sorting season, two youngsters are at the forefront of my mind.

the All Levels Handicap! As a rider, Heather has become very consistent and is a joy to partner with.

points! They have now won so much money, they have been moved up, AGAIN, to a #3 Novice. That's a lot of shows! He is an inspiration to all the other kids and the adults as well.

Watching these kids grow up before our eyes is part of what makes our Ranch Sorting events so special.

As a producer, you develop

6 years now; this is the first time we've won a trip to Vegas for it!

The RSNc has been a very positive part of our growing pains; the association has really been there for us in our first year of hosting sanctioned events. Besides facilitating recognition for our winners, the RSNc has been a great support system. I am especially grateful for the fair rating system, which was much needed in our state, and a points system that rewards accordingly. They have also been an awesome sounding board for us! When you call the RSNc office, you actually get to talk to someone! It is SOOOO nice to be able to just call-up and bounce-off your ideas. Danny and I want to thank RSNc. After a season of 9 shows, we're proud and excited to be apart of the association and we are looking forward to many seasons ahead! Happy Sorting!

Heather Thomas

This year, they have each had exceptional success in the sorting pen. They are definitely our two most improved riders.

Heather Thomas is a pretty young lady headed for her Sr. year of High School. She has been sorting with us for a few years, but this season she has really excelled! Heather and her horse, Buddy, have clicked and they have won everything in sight! Heather and Buddy have won numerous #6 classes as well as #10 competitions; furthermore, they have placed in the top slots of

She is currently leading the Novice Division in Florida's Sort for the Saddle race. We are proud of her and all she has accomplished!

Dillon Stalhut is one of our star pupils. Dillon is 11 years old and has just started riding this season. Dillon got his mount, Stumpy, late this past summer and has been on a mission to the top ever since. Dillon and Stumpy started out in the Beginner Division and immediately won a buckle! They then got moved to the Rookie Division where they won a couple of buckles and racked up a bunch of success in your first season of riding, much less Ranch Sorting! I can't think of anyone who has tried harder or wants to "do good" more than Dillon. He has put forth the effort it takes to be a champion and it

* Trips to Las Vegas include hotel accommodations and tickets to the NFR for two. Must be 21 or older to win trip.

 Top Twenty point earners from each state are eligible for one year-end prize as specified by each category. All other riders are eligible for cash paybacks.

 Listed sorting payback includes a 10% bonus awarded to contestants who qualified by competing in at least 3 sanctioned events. Payback to non-qualified riders will be less the 10% bonus.

* In the Beginner and the Rookie Ranch Hand classes, the sorter wins the Las Vegas trip. The gate rider earns points toward the Sort for the Saddle race in his/her category.

2008 RSNC Finals Class Explanations/Ride Regulations

The Beginner Ranch Hand Handicap, Graduated Beginner Ranch Hand Handicap, and Rookie Ranch Hand Handicap classes will be a pick one partner, draw up to four partners. The draw partners will come from a pool of experienced riders; the handicap will be based on the rating of the team.

The Graduated Rookie Sort class will be a pick one partner, draw up to four partners. The draws for this division will come from a pool of other Graduated Rookie riders.

All other divisions are a four ride limit with a fifth ride option; the fifth ride must be a draw or a pick with a rookie or a beginner.

• Masters' Division

All contestants age fifty and older may enter the Masters' Division and compete for cash payouts. In addition to vying for payouts, individuals representing the Top Twenty Masters from their home state will compete for special year-end awards. These riders will enter the Finals with 20 to 1 points, respectively, in the Masters' Division. In addition to a rider's Top Twenty points, points earned in this class only will determine the winner of the Masters' Division saddle and other year-end awards.

• Graduated Beginners' Division

All contestants with a rating of 2 or less may enter the Graduated Beginners' Division and compete for cash payouts. In addition to vying for payouts, all 2008 Graduated Beginners as well as individuals representing the Top Twenty Graduated Beginners from each state will compete for special year-end awards. These riders will enter the Finals with no less than 10 points in the Graduated Beginners' Division. In addition to a rider's Top Twenty points, points earned in this class only will determine the winner of the Graduated Beginners' Division saddle and other year-end awards.

• Graduated Rookies' Division

All contestants with a rating of 3 or less may enter the Graduated Rookies' Division and compete for cash payouts. In addition to vying for payouts, all 2008 Graduated Rookies as well as individuals representing the Top Twenty Graduated Rookies from each state will compete for special year-end awards. These riders will enter the Finals with no less than 10 points in the Graduated Rookies' Division. In addition to a rider's Top Twenty points, points earned in this class only will determine the winner of the Graduated Rookies' Division saddle and other year-end awards.

• Novice, Amateur, and Open Divisions

All Novice, Amateur, and Open riders may enter their respective classes and compete for cash payouts. In addition to vying for payouts, the Top Twenty Novice, Amateur, and Open riders from each state will compete for the year-end awards. These riders will enter the finals with 20 to 1 points, respectively. Riders graduating from Novice to Amateur or from Amateur to Open will enter the Finals with no less than 10 points. These Top Twenty points, plus points earned in any sorting division except the Claimer, Masters', Graduated Beginners', or Graduated Rookies' will determine the winners of the Novice, Amateur, and Open saddles and other year-end awards.

UNDERSTANDING YOUR ENTRIES, POINTS AND PAYBACKS

BY STACI FRAZIER

I remember well paying-out at my first show. I had won a little; so, I was expecting to break even or maybe get a little back. When the secretary read the grand total of what I owed, I was shocked!

I had made the mistake that so many new riders do. I didn't ask enough questions or read enough of the information to really understand my entries. I didn't realize that when I entered a class, I was charged for each ride I made during the first go of that class. I also didn't realize that there was a $2 sanctioning fee on each of my runs as well. So, despite having won some money, I had racked-up quite a bill at that first show. Needless to say, I educated myself before I entered at the next event.

Another confusing issue is the draw pot. Because each producer has the right to run the draw pot at his/her show as he/she sees fit, it is very important that contestants ask questions BEFORE they enter. Although most producers post the rules governing entries, sometimes it is not extremely clear. Furthermore, as anyone in the office of a show will tell you, the office staff has about a hundred things going-on and there are times when the rules do not get posted. However, I have yet to be at a show where they were not glad to take the time to explain.

Most draw pots work like this. If you pick a partner that is rated higher than a 2 (he or she is not a beginner or rookie), then you are automatically put in the draw pot one time. Now, some classes are pick one/draw up to four while others are pick up to four/draw one. In a pick one/draw up to four class, you can designate how many times you want in the draw; you are not automatically entered four times.

I promise that it gets easier to understand the more you do it; nonetheless, it is always important to ask how things are being done at each show. This way, the running-total in your head will be more accurate and the secretary won't have to resuscitate you at the end of the day.

Understanding how your points accumulate is another practice in learning. RSNC has adopted the same point system as used by the AQHA (see chart). Points are based on the number of entries in a class; in sorting, each team is one entry. Any class that has over one hundred entries awards double points. You can see a listing of the Top Twenty point earners from your state by going to www.rsnc.us.

After figuring-out the entry procedures and the point system, you'll definitely want to educate yourself on paybacks. Since I am not a "math person" this was a little difficult for me. Of course, it comes quite naturally to my husband; so, I just ride and have fun and let him worry about the money.

Paybacks are based on a percentage of the entry money in each class. Most classes have a 50%-60% payback; some will payback more and others less. If a class has a 60% payback, this means that 60% of the money taken-in for that class will be paid back as winnings. So, let's say that there were thirty-five teams in the #6 class where the entry fee was $25/ person and there was a 60% payback. 60% of the total #6 entry fees equaled $1050.

100% of that $1050 would be divided accordingly (4 places because there were 35 teams) as follows:

1st Place = 40% ($420.00 per team) or ($210.00 each) 2nd Place = 30% ($315.00 per team) or ($157.50 each) 3rd Place = 20% ($210.00 per team) or ($105.00 each)

 4th Place = 10% ($105.00 per team) or ($57.50 each)
 TOTAL = $1050.00

Don't forget that, based on the number of teams, points were also awarded in this class. Points were awarded up to 8th place because there were 35 teams. So, even if you didn't win a check, you still had a lot of opportunity to win points toward the saddle race.

I hope this crash course in understanding the ins-and-outs of entries, points, and paybacks helped a few people out there. The association, the producers, and the event secretaries understand that most of us are on a tight budget and want to know where our money is going. Please be patient and understanding with event staff. After a producer covers the costs of hosting a show, there is usually just enough money to do it again.

If you have questions about your entries, points, paybacks, or any other sorting-related issue, please feel free to contact the RSNC office (970)897-2901.

COAST TO COAST: QUALITY EVENT PHOTOGRAPHY

BY STACI FRAZIER, EDITOR

One of the greatest obstacles I encounter with every issue of The Ranch Sorter is acquiring quality images to use with the articles. It isn't that I don't receive great pictures; it riding or cheering-on a rider. They are caught-up in the moment and not thinking about taking pictures; so, the pictures tend to be an after-thought that don't show much of the

is that most people don't understand (as I didn't when I started working in this business) the resolution issues that come into play when printing an image in a publication. Because we use newsprint for The Ranch Sorter, it is even more difficult to recreate a crisp image. Photos with high resolution (at least 300 dpi) are a must in order get clear, vivid images in the publication.

Getting great action shots is another challenge. At events, most people are excitement of the competition. It is always great to get those still shots of class winners with their awards, but action shots add another dimension to an article.

All this said, I can't put into words how much I appreciate receiving images from photographers such as Jim Davis of Florida and Steve Shambeck of California. Both these men are truly talented artists. Of course, I expect high-resolution and clarity when I get pictures from a professional. However, I am always impressed when a photographer can truly capture the atmosphere of a competition! Both of these gentlemen have mastered the art of photographing action. The work of both Davis and Shambeck is truly exciting to observe and makes you feel as if you are there.

I have been honored to use the pictures of these professional photographers; both have been very gracious with their time and work. Check it out for yourself in the images that accompany the articles on pages 14-15 (Jim Davis) and pages 10-11 (Steve Shambeck).

2008 NATIONAL FINALS RSNC CLAIMER CLASS

Once again, RSNC will offer two "claimer" classes at the National Finals in Ponca City, Oklahoma. These classes allow RSNC members to market their horses as "for sale" without the hassle of auctions, sales agreements or other sale-related costs. Potential buyers will be able to see the horses in actual competition and compare similarly priced individuals. Two claimer divisions will be offered. The first division will be for horses priced at $5000 or below; the second division will be for horses priced above $5000.

Claimer Class Rules Seller

- 1) Horses will be priced by the seller; the price will be documented on the entry form.
- 2) Claimer class entry fee is $50 with a 60% payback; it is available to members only.
- 3) All horses priced at $5,000 or below must be in the $5,000 and below division; all other horses must be in the above $5,000 division.

4) Horses can not be re-priced after books have closed on the claimer classes.

5) The seller is responsible for providing any and all documentation as to pedigree, registration, health, etc. of his/her horse(s).

6) RSNC is not responsible for the negotiation or upholding of any agreements made between a buyer and seller.

Buyer

1) At any time after a horse has been exhibited in a claimer class, a potential buyer may make a claim on the horse by submitting the proper paperwork and a $200 deposit.

2) After the class, all claims on horses will be placed in consecutive order according to the time at which the claim was made.

3) Potential buyers will have the opportunity to ride claimed horses; the first claimer, according to time, will have the first opportunity and so forth.

If a potential buyer chooses not to purchase the horse, then he or she forfeits the $200 deposit to the seller. The next claimer, according to time, will then have the option to ride the horse. Every potential buyer who tries a horse will have five minutes to decide whether to buy the horse or not. If a buyer makes multiple claims at consecutive times, that buyer must make a decision within five minutes after the last consecutive horse is ridden. This will be done until all claimed horses have been tried. If a potential buyer chooses to purchase a horse, all transactions will be between the buyer and seller. The $200 deposit will be applied to the total purchase price and will go to the seller. All guarantees of health, soundness, registration, etc. will be between the buyer and the seller. A veterinarian will be on call for any tests agreed upon by the buyer and seller.

4) RSNC is not responsible for the negotiation or upholding of any agreements made between a buyer and seller.

4) RSNC is not responsible for the negotiation or upholding of any agreements made between a buyer and seller.

PIECES OF THE PAST... DODGE CITY, KANSAS

Dodge City, once known as The Queen of the Cowtowns, is no longer considered a bustling center of trade. However, it is definitely still a cowtown ... one deep breath will prove it! There is no shortage of cows or cowboys in this Kansas tourist attraction. RSNC felt right at home.

DODGE CITY, CARSON CATTLE, & WOLFE PRODUCTIONS: WHAT A SHOW!

It was a great mix. Historical Dodge City, RSNC Ranch Sorting produced by the Wolfe family, and Carson cattle. The weekend of May 31 – June 1 saw the first RSNC sanctioned sorting held in Dodge City, Kansas. Many local riders came out for the event as did out-of-towners for a total of 215 teams. By the end of the weekend, it was just one big family.

The show got off to a bit of a slow start, but there was no rush. The producers and the contestants took a laid back approach so that everyone could enjoy the day. The atmosphere was great as everyone was having fun. Fun, relaxing, and enjoyable events where the entire family can participate is just what RSNC is all about, and that is exactly what happened in this cowtown.

The facilities at the fairgrounds exceeded everyone's expectations, as did the hospitality. The friendliness of the locals and the excitement of the out-of-towners created an atmosphere full of goodhearted fun and competition.

And, boy - were the cattle fresh?!! The fresh cattle from the Carson Ranch made the sorting anyone's game and fun for all. Gene Carson, who lives in Dodge City, was a huge help in putting together this RSNC event. RSNC is looking forward to its next event in Dodge City. If you missed the first one – YOU MISSED OUT! So, watch the calendar and plan to attend the next RSNC sorting in the Queen of the Cowtowns, Dodge City, Kansas.
